

Citizant Promotes Mary Provus to VP of Human Resources

Chantilly, Va., March 23, 2011 — Citizant, a leader in business transformation and information-sharing solutions for national security and law enforcement federal agencies, has promoted Mary Provus to vice president of human resources. Provus will be responsible for overseeing all human resources functions and will lead the strategic HR initiatives.

“Mary has done an outstanding job over the past three years managing our Human Resources Department,” said Raymond Roberts, CEO of Citizant. “Her strong background in managing employee relations for federal technology contractors has been a great asset to us, and as we continue to grow our family of talent, we’re excited to have her step into this important leadership role.”

As human resources director for Citizant for the last three years, Provus was responsible for all aspects of HR and several office management functions. She has 28 years of experience in the field, previously overseeing the human resources functions for McFayden Solutions, Global InfoTek, Actix Inc. and iLumin Software Services Inc.

“I look forward to continuing to provide support for Citizant’s outstanding team of professionals,” said Provus. “It’s an exciting time to work in the federal technology sector, and to be a part of a growing organization that is so totally dedicated to serving our government customers’ missions. My focus will be to find new and innovative ways to continue supporting the amazing team of talent we have at Citizant and to support the organization as it continues to grow.”

Provus is certified as a Senior Professional in Human Resources® (SPHR) from the Society for Human Resource Management.
